To bring in the new year, Outpatient Medical Center welcomed three new board members to its Board of Directors: Anita Dubois, Jared Dunahoe, and Rev. Ronnie Evans.

Anita Dubois is an educator with more than 30 years of experience in the school system. She has served as a teacher, coach, guidance counselor, program director for Natchitoches Parish's 21st century learning center, and currently as the supervisor of child welfare for the Natchitoches Parish School Board. She sees OMC as a vital service to the community, especially the mental and emotional healthcare that it provides to help youth and families thrive in the community.

Jared Dunahoe is an attorney with more than 15 years of experience and is a partner at Dunahoe Law Firm. He is also a member of the Louisiana Bar Association, serves as president of the Natchitoches Parish Board of Election, and as a member of the Board of Directors for the Louisiana School for Math, Science, and the Arts. He serves on OMC's board to give back to his local community and improve the lives of community members who need assistance because of their economic situation.

Reverend Ronnie Evans is a 1978 graduate of Northwestern State University who served six years and earned the rank of Captain in the Louisiana National Guard and served the Natchitoches Sheriff's Office for 34 years as a Tax Supervisor. Additionally, he is a life member of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity Inc. Rev. Evans joined the OMC Board of Directors due to his interest in the welfare and healthcare of those who may not have the means to afford it.

OMC's Board of Directors is comprised of 9-15 persons collectively representing the community at large and who accurately reflect the ethnic and socioeconomic distribution of the service areas population. The Board meets monthly to establish and monitor OMC's Strategic Health Plan, which is set every two years. The Board also reviews, modifies, and adopts new policies, reviews and acts on any proposed changes to the level of healthcare services currently provided by OMC, and reviews, approves, and monitors operational budget and expenditures, etc.
